Description

The Telegärtner TNC Dust Cap with chain is a specialised protective accessory designed for TNC jacks, commonly used in RF and telecommunications applications. Manufactured by Telegärtner, a renowned German company known for high-precision components, this dust cap ensures the longevity and reliability of TNC connectors by preventing the ingress of dust and other contaminants. Its robust construction features a nickel-plated brass body, providing resilient protection against environmental factors and mechanical wear.

The attached chain allows secure fastening, preventing loss and ensuring that the cap is readily available when needed. This feature is particularly useful in environments where TNC connectors are frequently exposed to harsh conditions, such as in outdoor or industrial settings. By maintaining a clean and secure connection, the dust cap helps optimise signal integrity and equipment performance.
